BOMBAY COURIER
EXTRAORDINARY.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1823.

BY a vessel from the Persian Gulph which arrived yesterday, we have received Frankfort Journals down to the 11th January with English news as late as the 3d of that month. The following are the chief articles of interest contained in them.

England continued to remain entirely neutral in the system of interference which the Continental Sovereigns had determined upon, in aid of France, concerning the internal arrangements of the Government of Spain.

The British Ambassador Extraordinary in France, His Grace the Duke of Wellington, had been ordered by the British ministry to quit Paris.

Her Majesty the Queen of Portugal having refused to accede to the new constitution, was under a decree of banishment.

The Greeks still continue successful at sea, and it is said that England has acknowledged their right of Blockade.

Khourschid Pacha, the conqueror of Albania had been put to death ; and the same fate it appears by the last advices from Bagdad had attended Ibraham Pacha the leader of the Turkish force advancing against Persia.

It was also rumoured that the Commanders of these forces have adopted the cause of Bukir Agah late Mutesellim of Karkook.

At the date of the latest advices from Constantinople, nothing of importance had transpired regarding the pending arrangements between Russia and Turkey entrusted to the management of the British Ambassador.

The life of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland had been twice endangered during riots in the Dublin Theatre; the late conciliatory measures towards the Catholics seem to have given great dissatisfaction to the Protestant party, and grounds for a charge of treason were expected to be proved against certain individuals engaged in these riots, not of the lower orders of the people.

The Court of Directors gave a grand dinner to Mirza Sahib the Persian Envoy on the 20th December, at which Sir John Malcolm assisted by special invitation.

The squadron fitted out for the West Indies, sailed on the 24th December from Plymouth. It consisted of the Gloucester 74, the Phaeton 46, the Valorous and Eden of 20, and the Belette of 18 guns.

Lord Francis Cunyngham is appointed under Secretary of State in the Foreign department. His Lordship is only twenty two years of age.

It is stated, on the 3d of January, that Lord Fitzroy Somerset was on the eve of setting out for Madrid with a special mission.

In the same paper it is mentioned that the Britannia of 120 guns, and the Impregnable, were fitting out at Plymouth for immediate service. On the following week, the Windsor Castle was to be put on the stocks—The Superb 78, and the Bulwark 76 (the guard ship), were to be equipped for service in the channel.

The Hannah, Captain Lamb, from Portsmouth the 13th December, anchored in the harbour yesterday.

PASSENGERS.

Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Fenwick, Mrs. Ashburner, Mrs. Clieland, Miss Williams, Miss M. Williams, Miss Thomas, Miss Ruthven, Miss Cotgrave, John Williams Esq. John Ashburner Esq. Charles Thomas Esq. W. L. Clieland Esq. Mr. Davidson, Mr. Marsh, Mr. Marshall; The Hon'ble Mrs. Harris landed at Mangalore.

She brings London papers down to the 12th of December, but we do not observe any important addition to the public news already brought by the Royal George.

Private letters mention that Henry Shank Esq. after engaging his passage in the Farquharson, has resigned his appointment of Member of Council at this Presidency.

Mr. J. Elphinstone, Mr. Baber and Mr. Goodwin are said to be the candidates for the vacancy.
